Who is Constellation Clearsight?

Constellation Clearsight is an expert utility inspections company committed to safety and energy reliability. Our professionals have official IDs and wear branded Personal Protective Equipment.

What is Constellation Clearsight doing in the area?

Constellation Clearsight ground crews and vehicles are in your neighborhood, working together with OPCO-NAME-TO-ENTER. This is a planned inspection. For more information about upcoming inspections in your neighborhood, please contact your local cooperative, municipality, and/or utility.

What are crews doing? Why are they flying a drone?

Constellation Clearsight workers may be flying drones and using other inspections tools, such as a non-destructive inspection (NDI) tool, to assess the poles and wires in your area to see where improvements are needed.

During a drone inspection, a drone will hover around each pole for approximately two minutes. Drones are operated by certified pilots and will be flown very high in the air to avoid coming near your home.

Workers might be at poles inspecting pole health. They may also be at utility boxes. Using innovative technology for inspections reduces interruptions for you. These tools also provide better insights than traditional inspections. These insights aid in providing the best solutions to plan the work needed to keep the power you need, when you need it.

A knock on your door for permission to enter your yard will rarely occur and only when absolutely necessary. Drones will follow the path of electricity lines and will only fly over a home or business in emergency maneuver situations. As a precaution, please keep all pets indoors or leashed when going for walks.

I have more questions. Who can I contact?
